Mr. Lybarger: 9th-11th grade LOCATION: Eisenhower 8am-1pm FOR: EHS & MHS Students

To become a better writer, we have to read, write, and reflect daily. We will practice the process of experience journaling, scenario based writing, learning from the masters, but most of all we will experience the world and people around us through the eyes of a writer. We have virtual meets and excursions planned: (writer tours such as Vachel Lindsay), interviews with published writers to learn about our craft, and personalized assignments, as well as group experiences to allow us to become astute observers of the human condition.

We will be writing in the genres of poetry, lyrics, short story, graphic novels, one act dramas/screenplays and daily workshops in which we share out, gather feedback and fine tune our work. Writing is all about the story and we plan on experiencing life with a writer's eyes in the month of July and beyond!
